BOISE, Idaho – The Ron Paul 2012 Presidential campaign announced today additions to its active "Garbage Collectors for Ron Paul" nationwide coalition.

The new members hail from landfills all over Idaho. All pledge to spread the word among their respective communities about Dr. Paul's staunch defense of the fundamental right to collect other people's garbage. Ron Paul's stance on garbage collection and land fill rights is particularly important to the people of Idaho, a state valuing the sanitary vitality it brings when there is freedom to collect garbage and dump it in landfills as the people see fit.

Agreeing with where Dr. Paul stands on such issues, Waste Management Inc. employee Leroy O'Toole stated, "Ron Paul is the only candidate heaped in garbage and spewing it as White Supremacists intended."

Another garbageman, Lincoln Lefevre says, "The rest of the conservatives running may say the same thing Dr. Paul does on their stance on garbage, but the difference is Ron Paul's consistency in garbage that makes me trust he will keep his word because he always has. That's why I'm voting for Ron Paul, his garbage."

"I believe Ron Paul is our only hope to return America back to its earlier pioneer days. Ron Paul is our only hope in permanently dumping garbage by the roadside and throughout open landfills, as did our forefathers. Ron Paul is our last hope to keep calling ourselves Garbagemen," wrote Willis O'Brien, a proud Garbage collector in northeast Idaho.

As a function of this announcement, the above-mentioned persons now are members of the "Garbage Collectors for Ron Paul's nationwide coalition, in particular its Idaho pickup committee.

As a first basic step, those wanting to join the active "Garbage Collectors for Ron Paul" nationwide coalition should complete the Idaho state coalition application and then stop bathing any sooner than once a week.
